Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

An Irish singing class is to be started in the Christian Brothers' schools at Tuam. The funeral of John Barry, who died at the age of seventy years at Johnston, County Wicklow, took place October 4. After a tedious illness Christopher White died at Blessington, County Wicklow. The interment took place at Buggage the 4th inst.

Patrick Foy, charged with being a deserter from the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, and Michael Doyle with being a deserter from the Royal Artillery, admitted the fact in the Dublin Police Court and were remanded.

Mrs. Hannah Murphy, the beloved wife of Michael Murphy, passed away at her residence in Dublin, deeply regretted by her mourning husband, children and friends. Her remains were interred in Glasnevin.

Recent civil service appointments include the following for postmen: William Aiken at Ballymena, Thomas Keys at Omagh, Daniel Magee at Londonderry, Joshua Thompson at Portadown, M. G. Wall at Newry and William Hurle at Belfast.

There was a special celebration of the anniversary of the birth of Father Mathew in Dublin on the 8th inst. Prominent citizens addressed the meeting and an interesting musical programme was gone through. The exercises were held in Father Mathew Hall.

Archbishop Croke has expressed himself as delighted that the project of getting a railway from Gould's Cross to Cashel is at last in a fair way of becoming an accomplished fact. The influence of Ireland's great prelate will have its due weight with Tipperary men.

The Presentation Nuns at Tuam are about to open an Irish class for the benefit of the pupils attending the convent schools. Already they have procured a number of Irish songs set to music and are making arrangements for the teaching of them in the tonic sol-fa system.

According to statistics compiled by the Board of Trade the number of emigrants from Ireland last month was 6,158, as against 6,529 in September, 1899. The total number for the nine months ended September 30 was 39,371, as compared with 36,745 during the corresponding period of last year.

The blessing of a new bell for Clonsilla parish church was performed with most impressive ceremonies by Bishop Kelly, of Ross. The bell is one of the largest in the South of Ireland, with a soft, mellow, musical tone, and will be heard pealing for many miles from the great tower of the beautiful church.

A number of gentlemen connected with the choir and confraternities of St. Saviour's church, Dublin, entertained Vincent O'Brien, their organist and conductor, at Vaughan's Hotel. After justice had been done to the excellent menu appropriate toasts were responded to in brief but effective speech, and solos, duets and recitations were admirably rendered, bringing a pleasant evening to a close.

The death of P. F. Reddy, which took place suddenly in Waterford on October 4, has caused widespread regret. He was during the stormy political period embraced in the past decade a staunch and unflinching Independent Nationalist, and Parnell in his great struggle following the unfortunate division in the National ranks had no more faithful or devoted adherent. In the three contests in his native city he was a prominent supporter of John Redmond.

The great necessity which exists in the city of Waterford for a properly organized fire brigade has again been brought prominently under public notice. Not very long since the question was raised owing to the inadequacy of what is presently called a brigade to cope with a fire attended with fatal consequences in Patrick street. The corporation has been urged to look at the matter seriously and take steps to provide a brigade able to cope with all outbreaks.

The death of George Donaldson, late manager of the Waterford gas works, caused deep regret. He had been connected with Waterford for many years and quite recently resigned his position of gas manager owing to failing health. He was a courteous and obliging official and in connection with the staff under him effected many reforms to their advantage. To mark their esteem the citizens on his resignation opened a testimonial for him and at the time of his death it had not been closed.

John Moran, of the Dowry quarry, near Blessington, County Wicklow, was seriously injured by the premature explosion of a blast. Moran not alone received a severe injury to one of his hands, but was also badly burned about the head and face. Dr. Bleakley, who was immediately in attendance, ordered his removal to the hospital, where he is progressing favorably. An employee of Moran's had a marvellous escape, as the thumper being used in the blasting operations, and which was found two fields away, actually blew the hat off his head into pieces.

At the meeting of the Nenagh Urban Council, W. Hogan presiding, Councillor Whelan proposed and Councillor John Power seconded a resolution putting the housing of the working classes act in force in the urban district of Nenagh and authorizing the advertisement of the scheme prepared by the township engineer, R. P. Gill, and the town clerk, Frank R. Maloney. The resolution was unanimously adopted. The scheme provides for the erection of fifty artisans' and laborers' cottages, with garden allotments, at an estimate cost of $40,000.

We regret to announce the death of the venerable Archdeacon Murphy, of Quin, after a lingering illness. The deceased was one of the oldest and most esteemed clergymen in the Diocese of Killaloe, born seventy-four years ago at Lorrha, County Tipperary, he entered the ministry in 1857. After having passed a brilliant course at Maynooth his first curacy was in County Clare, at Sixmilecross, whence he was transferred to Templederry. His next change was to Nenagh. He was then made parish priest at Tomgraney and while laboring in this parish it became his lot to take a prominent part in the famous Bodke eviction campaign on the O'Callaghan estate. On the death of the venerable Father Dan Corbett he was made parish priest at Quin and subsequently on the death of Archdeacon O'Leary he was appointed archdeacon. Father Murphy was through life an uncompromising patriot and every national object had the support of his pen and purse. The latest objects which he strongly advocated were the financial relations and Catholic University questions. While in Tomgraney he built the handsome little church of that village almost from his own pocket and in several of his parishes helped largely to establish schools. His death is deeply deplored.

RECENT DEATHS.

It is with extreme regret we announce the death of Mary Louise, the bright little and dearly beloved five-year-old daughter of Joseph and Agnes Hoerter, which occurred at the family residence, 1318 Rosewood avenue. The funeral services at St. Brigid's church Tuesday were very largely attended.

The funeral of James Roche, aged twenty-six years, who died Sunday morning at the residence of his father, Morris Roche, from an illness of bronchitis, took place Tuesday morning from St. Cecilia's church. The deceased was the brother of Miss Minnie Roche and Thomas Roche, the tailor, and was well known in Lexington and Chicago. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved father and relatives.

Mrs. Nellie Sanders, wife of Walter Sanders, engineer on the Louisville and Portland canal, departed this life at her residence, 2715 High avenue, last Sunday afternoon. Her funeral took place from the Church of Our Lady, and the sympathy felt for the bereaved husband was attested by the large attendance of sorrowing friends at the solemn obsequies, which were conducted by Rev. Father Gausepohl.

John Zix, well known in the ice business, passed away at the family residence on Vernon avenue last Sunday morning, at the age of twenty-seven years. Besides his family his loss is mourned by a large number of friends and relatives. Rev. Father White conducted the solemn funeral services Tuesday morning at St. Frances of Rome church, and a long line of mourning friends followed the remains to St. Michael's cemetery.

"Mamma," said little Ethel, "Mrs. Gayley's husband isn't dead, is he?" "No, dear." "Then what's she going to be married again for?" "Never mind, dear. You can't understand such things." "Oh, I know," exclaimed the little girl; "it's just like getting vaccinated—it didn't take the first time."

"You can't make water run uphill," "No; but you can freeze it and haul it up."

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Division 3 is in a most healthy condition, not a member being on the sick list. The members of division 3 miss the gallant Col. Joe Taylor from their meetings very much.

Every Hibernian, young and old, should invite their friends to the hall Monday night week.

Division 19 of Waltham, Mass., celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary last week with its annual ball.

Tom Noone and Walter Joyce were warmly greeted Wednesday evening, after an absence of long duration.

Division 5 was lately instituted in St. Patrick's parish at Nelson, N. B. Rev. Father Power was elected Chaplain.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Division 1 of Minneapolis enjoyed a cinch party Thursday night, followed by refreshments.

Major Joseph Reilly expects to organize a new company of Hibernian Rifles in Providence before the end of October.

The Massachusetts State officers were the guests at an entertainment and smoke talk given by the divisions of Milford last night.

The Hibernians of Providence are all interested in their fair. Committees all report progress and everything successful thus far.

Division 3 held a very interesting meeting Wednesday night. President John Cavanaugh was elated over the large attendance.

Division 1 of Lewiston, Maine, celebrated its twenty-second anniversary Tuesday evening with many attending the entertainment and social.

The long expected new ritual will soon be ready for distribution, perhaps next month. It will contain a new form of initiation and degree work.

Dancing parties are given weekly by the divisions of St. Paul, and all are well attended. The hop of the ladies of Division 4 was the most successful.

Division 7 was organized Sunday last in Providence. The Daughters of Erin were present as guests, and the installation was conducted by the State officers.

Division 2 of Syracuse will entertain its friends at a card party November 15. All reports from that city are most encouraging. The county officers are alive to the best interests of the order.

The Ladies' Sodality of Holy Trinity church, New Albany, will entertain the Hibernians at their bazar next Thursday night. They expect a large attendance from this city and New Albany.

The meeting of Division 3 was made interesting Wednesday evening by the timely remarks of Walter Joyce, Thomas Kennedy, President Cavanaugh and State Secretary James Coleman.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Division 1 closed its charter list Tuesday evening with a roll of nearly 300 names. At the preceding meeting forty-four ladies were initiated. Syracuse now has the largest ladies' auxiliary in New York.

The picnic and dance of Division 1 of Jeffersonville last Thursday night was largely attended, many being present from New Albany. All were entertained most royally and a handsome sum was realized. President John Cavanaugh represented the Jefferson County Board.

Those who attend the meeting of Division 1 next Tuesday evening will not regret the time thus spent. The paper to be read by Newton G. Rogers, the well-known attorney, ought to interest every member of the order. The refreshments are being arranged for by Messrs. John Mulloy and Tom Keenan, who will provide plenty.

Pat Grogan for many years a popular member of the local police department, has been made Chairman of the standing Committee of Division 3. The appointment will meet with the approval of the Hibernians, who appreciate ability and devotion to the order. Division 3 is now in a flourishing condition financially. George Butler and Nic Sheridan would make first-class bank officials. Both appreciate the assistance of Hugh Higgins.

THEATRICALS.

For next week the Avenue announces James A. Hearne's famous play, "Shore Acres," its first presentation here at popular prices. This is one of the most successful productions on the American stage.

Underlined to appear at the Buckingham next week is Weber's "Parisian Widows," and the knowing ones in large numbers have secured their seats in advance. For the past five years Manager Lawrence Weber's attractions have been considered by press and public to be the leaders of their class and reports from every city where the "Parisian Widows" have appeared this season indicate that the same standard of excellence is still maintained. Mr. Weber has culled a few choice artists from the front rank of comedy and opera, which added to the large array of high-class vaudeville talent, form one of the strongest burlesque organizations on the road.

At the Temple Theater next week the Meffert-Eagle Stock Company will strive for new honors in "Hoodman Blind," a production that should call for the standing-room sign at this popular play house. "Hoodman Blind," the production of Wilson Barrett and Henry Arthur Jones, is a most excellent play, one of strong interest and for a melodrama probable in plot. The story is that of an honest man made jealous of his young wife by tale-bearing friends and foes, who had seen a truant sister of the wife, an exact image of her, fondling a gypsy. The false friend brings the husband to see for himself. Deceived and believing his wife false, he abuses and abandons her. Time passes and better friends reveal the mistake made, when the story ends with their happy reunion. Real life presents far stranger situations than those woven into this stage story of murder, envy, hatred, love, jealousy, constancy and justice tardily triumphant. The company is up to the requirements and a first-class production may be looked for.

For gray hair, when washing, never use ordinary soap, as it makes it yellow. Green castile is the best for general use. A few drops of common blueing into the last water when rinsing gray or white hair gives it a beautiful shade and does it no harm.
